

FEAR NEW "JOKER" TO BLOCK MOVIES REFORM TUESDAY

History of Ordinance Shows "Everlasting Opposition" Full of Tricks.

OVER 3 YEARS' DELAY.

Measure Twice Passed With Amendments Intended to Force a Veto.

By Sophie Irene Loeb.

There is the history of the moving picture measure, which is to come up next Tuesday:

There never was a moving picture ordinance in New York and there is none now.

January, 1910—Mayor Gaynor takes up moving picture question.

January, 1911—Commissioner of Public Safety reports to the Mayor, and a "committee of experts" appointed.

Feb. 10, 1911—Ordinance framed by commission presented to the Board of Aldermen.

April 26, 1911—Special message by Mayor urges the passage of ordinance.

December, 1911—Ordinance passed but vetoed because a provision for censorship was added.

Feb. 4, 1912—Mayor in message again urges necessity of a proper ordinance.

May, 1912—Another ordinance passed, and again vetoed because of an amendment forbidding a gallery in moving picture shows.

Wednesday, June 10, 1912—The ordinance, including a provision for gallery, again presented to board.

Wednesday, July 1—Ordinance will come up for action.

From the above it will be seen that the everlasting "joker" has been the chief obstacle of the moving picture ordinance, which again comes up next Tuesday. Another "prospective" joker is creating considerable talk among the Aldermen. But several who have opposed for various reasons will vote for the ordinance now on the grounds that the public should be given some adequate law before the board adjourns for the summer.

MORE THAN THREE YEARS OF DELAY ALREADY.

"It is now three years and a half since I took this matter up," said Mayor Gaynor today. "The moving picture law has come only in recent years. There was no ordinance to regulate them, and there is still none. They have been established by makeshifts. The result is deplorable."

"Soon after I came into office I consulted with leaders of the Board of Aldermen with regard to the proposition of such an ordinance. The work was a large one and required much time. Early in 1911 I referred the whole thing to the Committee of Accounts for investigation."

"I then appointed a committee of experts and competent men to frame an ordinance. They did their work with commendable care and intelligence."

"Several Aldermen voted for that ordinance with a censorship added knowing that it would be vetoed. Those who did that were, and are, opposed to the ordinance and have been doing all they could to defeat it or render it worthless."

Others vote for the ordinance on the mistaken legal notion that the Mayor could veto the ordinance and let the rest of the ordinance stand.

"A second time the ordinance came to me, but with the gallery excluded. I could not approve of that and I feel certain a large majority of the Aldermen believe I should not approve it."

"It is very necessary to pass an ordinance for the government of these moving picture places. Not to do so is to leave them without proper control."

SELFISH INTERESTS HAVE BLOCKED THE MEASURE.

"The commission which I appointed to frame an ordinance saw that to meet the expense of making the shows safe and sanitary they should be permitted to accommodate more than 200 persons as proposed. In Boston the number permitted is 500, and in other cities they have a like limit. The commission finally settled on 200 as being a fair limit. It is absolutely necessary that the audience be large enough to enable the proprietors to bear the expense of complying with the requirements of the ordinance."

"The cheap theatres of the city have no limitations put upon them as to size of audience. They are banded together to oppose this moving picture ordinance, so the provision for an audience of 200 was cut and the audience kept down to the old number."

"Their purpose is purely selfish. There is room for all. They should not try to block the passage of the ordinance reported by the commission. I trust that they shall not be able, in the end, to defeat it. It is time they were told that they are not to rule in this matter. Our attempt is to make the moving picture shows of this town wholesome and safe."

"You cannot, without doing injustice to the proprietors of these places, limit their audience below 200. They must have revenues enough to enable them to comply with the stringent provisions of the ordinance. To impose the expensive requirement of this ordinance on them, and then deny them a seating capacity large enough to pay the expense, is to make the ordinance a mockery. And this opinion of the Mayor is also the opinion of many Aldermen. But they are asking the question, 'What new joker is the everlasting opposition going to present next Tuesday?'"

DRIVE COREANS FROM TOWN IN CALIFORNIA.

Supposed to Be Japanese, They Are Put With Baggage on a Train.

RIVERSIDE, Cal., June 27.—Anti-Japanese sentiment at Hemet, a small town near here, was shown yesterday when a party of citizens met an apologetic crew of supposed Japanese from this city and ordered them to leave at once. Their baggage was thrown aboard the train after them.

The Asiatics were engaged by ranchers near Hemet. After they had been driven out the ranchers told the Hemet men that the Asiatics were Coreans. The reply was that Hemet wanted neither race.

Hemet business men joined Mayor Shaw in denouncing the action. They asserted that the expulsion of the Coreans was illegal and therefore to be condemned.

Japanese Assert Coreans Are Entitled to Their Protection.

LOS ANGELES, June 27.—H. Wakabayashi, secretary of the Japanese Association of Southern California, has telegraphed the facts in the Hemet case to Y. Numano, acting Consul General at San Francisco.

As Coreas is a Japanese dependency, officials of the association said Coreans were entitled to protection from Japan.

WILSON SAYS: "SEARCH ME."

Denies He Has Asked Congress to Amend the Sherman Law.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—President Wilson was asked: "It is reported that you are to ask Congress to amend the Sherman anti-trust law. Is that true?"

"You can search me," answered the President. "I never heard of it."

LEGITIMATE BUSINESS, EITHER BIG OR LITTLE, NEED HAVE NO FEARS

Corporation Commissioner Davies Says Administration Won't Touch It.

CINCINNATI, June 27.—Generally regarded as representing President Wilson and his views on corporations, Commissioner of Corporations Joseph E. Davies spoke to 500 business men last night at a banquet which concluded the ceremonies incidental to the dedication of the new Chamber of Commerce Building.

"Legitimate business, big and little, that is on the level has nothing to fear from the present Administration. Little business or big business which is not right should get right," said Mr. Davies.

"Into our business life there has come a new being—created by law—an artificial person—the corporation. Within the last decade and a half the corporate form of enterprise has taken on great proportions. One hundred of these artificial persons, created in the last fifteen years, have resources in the aggregate of $22,546,000,000. Three of these corporations could borrow enough to pay the national interest-bearing debt of the United States Government and not exceed one-fourth of their total wealth."

After citing statistics to illustrate the growth of corporations he added:
